

is capable of guaranteeing almost none of the basic human rights to its citizens. The only guarantees are uncommitted governments in different shades after every election in states and at the Centre.